

JUSTISSE COLLEGE INTERNATIONAL

The Holistic Reproductive Health Practitioner training program at Justisse College International is a two year long, self-paced online teacher training as an educator of the Justisse Method, a standardized, evidence-based fertility awareness method with separate symptothermal and mucus only guidelines.

Currently, Justisse College International is the gold standard for secular fertility awareness educator training. Our multi-disciplinary, rigorous program ensures that our graduates exemplify ethical standards of clinical and educational practice. We hold a functional medicine approach to reproductive health and promote scientific literacy, client-centered care and self-reflection in our students.

A Holistic Reproductive Health Practitioner (HRHP) is knowledgeable in the connections between menstrual cycle and general health, the deep significance that fertility awareness has in the lives of those learning it and is able to interpret complex menstrual cycle charts. HRHP:s support their clients in making informed decisions regarding their reproductive health, while respecting sexual and reproductive rights, ethnic and cultural diversity as well as ideological and religious beliefs. Our courseware is vast and continuously updated in alignment with the newest research, the students are trained in both academic writing and counselling techniques, and the internship includes supervised case management.
